

COLLEGIALITY & SUBSIDIARITY

WE get the positive bit in today's gospel "You are Peter, and on this rock I will build my church ..." without the corrective Matthew supplies immediately after it, when Peter remonstrates against Jesus' predictions of his Passion, and is sternly rebuked by him "Get behind me, Satan ...". The foundation stone has become the stumbling-block. At one level, Peter represents every disciple – we set out on our way of discipleship with high ideals, but find that our human concerns (not necessarily to be despised) get in the way of our responding to the divine invitation.

At another level this saying – set in gold letters round the dome of St Peter's basilica in Rome, over the grave of the Apostle – raises the issue of authority in the church. The church in Rome known by Peter and Paul would have been a loose collection of independent assemblies, meeting in the houses of wealthy members of the community, each with its own leaders. Yet as time went on this loose confederation thought of itself as one church, based on the special status of Peter in the gospels, as they believed themselves to perpetuate the responsibilities and privileges of the Apostle. The church of Rome then, from very early times, took on the role of primary witness and guardian of the faith to the wider Christian commonwealth. According to the evangelists, especially Matthew and John, Peter's role is central among the apostles. Still, his was not the only voice. While Paul recognises Peter's special place among the apostles, and his role in the mission to the Jews outside Palestine, Paul vigorously defends his own mission to the gentiles, even to "withstanding Peter to his face" in Antioch. The habit of appealing to the bishop of Rome in doctrinal disputes came from his status as head of a community that had inherited both the teaching and the ultimate act of witness – martyrdom – of the princes of the apostles. The Roman church then became the point of reference for Christians elsewhere, based on the combined authority, uniquely, of two apostles: Peter, to whom the commissions to bind and to feed had been given by Christ himself; and Paul, charismatic preacher of a gospel received direct from God. This enhanced status with respect to the other apostolic sees – Jerusalem, Antioch, Alexandria and later Constantinople – was one of degree, not of kind; although following the vicissitudes of history the Church of Rome alone survived in Christian Europe.

The ecclesiological vision of the Second Ecumenical Council of the Vatican stressed elements of collegiality and subsidiarity: the local church centred on its bishop in communion through him with the bishop (and church) of Rome. Unfortunately, this vision is largely still to be realised: as recent crises have shown too many in the church (including possibly too many bishops) see themselves as local managers of a remote central office of a multinational. Perhaps the most pressing problem of authority faced now by the church of Rome is how to help other churches rediscover their own dignity and authority?

WEEKDAY MASS IN LATIN. In addition to the Masses listed in the schedule on p 3, Holy Mass will be offered in the Dominican rite from Monday to Saturday at 8am. EXCEPT THAT THIS WEEK THERE WILL BE NO MASS ON MONDAY 22 AUGUST.

THE NEW ENGLISH FORM OF MASS. From the beginning of September we will start using the new English form of the Mass. We have bought cards with the new form printed in two colours and in clear type. You can either borrow a card for the Mass you come to, or if you prefer you can buy one (for 50p) to take home to read through, and get familiar with the new wording. The differences are not all that great, though we will need to be careful at first not to stumble over words or rhythms that are slightly different from what we have been used to. The Celebrant will take the opportunity to explain obscurities; and if you have any questions please do not hesitate to ask him about them. From the beginning of September to the beginning of Advent (the end of November) will be the time when we are getting used to the new form. From the start of Advent the new Missal will come into full use.

Would you like to learn some Latin? Do you know a little and want to brush it up? Would you like to compare the new English translation of the Mass with the Latin original? Our regular weekly Latin class on Tuesdays from 7.00 to 8.30pm will start again on 27 September, led by Ray Fowell. It's a small friendly group, run like a seminar, working at a pace and covering subjects which suit the students. We each pay £3 each per session for the use of the Parish Centre. Ray will be available at the end of every Sunday Mass on 27/28 August and 24/25 September, stationed by the Wellington Street door, easily identified in a blue tie with thin diagonal stripes of green and white, and looking forward to seeing anyone who is interested. Or you can contact him at ray.fowell@btopenworld.com. Floreat lingua Latina!

MONEY MATTERS: Last Weekend's collections – Offertory Collection £947.39; SVP £9.61; Friends of Holy Cross £11.90; Holy Souls £12.84; Grenada Church Restoration £25.15. The retiring collection for CAFOD for the people of East Africa who are suffering from starvation came to £864.82.

This week there is a retiring collection for the third instalment of our Diocesan Quota, our contribution to the cost of running the diocese.

Very many thanks for your continuing generosity.

School reunion. Christ the King Primary School on Glenfield Road will be celebrating its 60th anniversary on Friday 30 September from 6-9pm when it holds a celebratory School Reunion for past pupils and staff of the school. Refreshments, including a licensed bar, will be available. Tickets may be obtained by contacting the school office from 5 September on 285 7261.

The Legion of Mary are available to visit those who for various reasons are prevented from coming to Mass and desire some spiritual support. Please contact Matthew Woodfield on 0781 315 3221, if you would like to arrange a visit.

Fr Leon will be returning to Holy Cross for the 12.30pm Mass on Saturday 3 September, after which we will make a presentation of the money collected for him. It will be an opportunity to thank him for all that he did in his time here.

For Sale: one-bedroom flat in Court View, New Walk (2 minutes' walk from Holy Cross). Contact Linna Lam on (0116) 255 5922 or 07713 023687.

Last Year's Ride & Stride day in September raised over £47,000 for the Leicestershire Historic Churches Trust. We have been a beneficiary of the Trust, and this year's event will be held on Saturday 10 September. How does it work? Cyclists and walkers seek sponsorship for the number of churches they visit on the event day. The money raised by each participant is shared equally between a church they nominate and the Trust. Riders and walkers plan their own routes using a list of open churches which, together with sponsorship forms, will be available nearer the time. Around 400 churches will be open, and this is a golden opportunity to visit churches not normally open outside service times. Put the date in your diary now!
